

April 29, 2010 by Publisher

Duke City Youth Poetry Collective

508 Warehouse, 508 First St. NW 1st, 3rd & 4th Saturdays of the month March meetings: 3/6, 3/13, 3/27. April meetings: 4/3, 4/10, 4/24 A youth writing collective for-youth, by-youth. The Duke City Youth Poetry Collective (DCYPC) is a writing group for ABQ Metro-area youth aged 13 through 20 that emphasizes the written and spoken word primarily through poetry slam created in Fall 2008 by ABQ poet Joe Romero. Among the projects the DCYCP has undertaken is the Duke City Youth Poetry slam team as well as a weekly open-mic/workshop series that will be hosted at W508 and once a month at the National Hispanic Cultural Center as well as the city's first monthly under-21 poetry slam. For information on the DCYPC, please email Kenn Rodriguez at kenn@warehouse508.org , call 505.296.2738 or text/call 505.379.2666.

The Duke City Youth Poetry Collective is a collaboration between the Nat. Hispanic Cultural Center, Warehouse 508 by NMX